WHAT ARE CHARTER SCHOOLS?

Charter Schools are public schools. They are designed and operated by educators, parents, community leaders, educational entrepreneurs, and others, to provide a choice within public education. Public Charter Schools cater to a particular target group, via a program designed to address the needs of that group. In their creation, Public Charter schools are held academically accountable by outlining their academic goals in their charter. In order for their charter to be granted by the Minister of Education, those educational goals must be determined by Alberta Education to be sound and rigorous, and supported by a program that is "unique" in its design. In order for their charter to be sustained and renewed, Public Charter Schools must continually meet or exceed the goals set forth in their Charter.

Charter schools follow mandated Alberta Curricula and are staffed by certificated teachers. They are operated by a Board of Directors, which are comprised of community members and parents of students enrolled at the school. Public Charter Schools have fully operating parent councils, and are guided by Superintendents. They must and do operate lawfully and responsibly, with the highest regard for excellence. Public Charter Schools develop Education Plans and submit annual Education Reports, as all other public schools do.

CAPE'S CHARTER

PHILOSOPHY AND BELIEFS:

Alberta Education, through legislation and policies, specifies that every student is entitled to have access to an educational program appropriate to the student's needs, age, and level of educational achievement.

At CAPE, we believe students wish for, need, and deserve an affordable, supportive, equitable, responsive, and accessible educational environment within which to grow and develop personal and academic skills, which will lead to active world citizenship.

Alberta Education, through legislation and policies, requires that students have access to the most enabling learning environment that meets their needs.

At CAPE, we believe students, for a variety of reasons, are sometimes not able to achieve their academic and personal best within other, locally available standard educational programs.

Alberta Education, through legislation and policies, recognizes that some students may require a program that is adapted to those particular needs.

At CAPE, we believe students, when placed in an appropriate environment, have the potential of becoming successful students and life-long learners.

Alberta Education, through legislation and policies, specifies that a Board may offer an education program that uses a particular teaching philosophy.

At CAPE, we believe administrators, teachers, parents, and students are partners in the academic and personal development of the student.

Alberta Education, through legislation and policies, recommends that each student whose program has been adapted in order to meet that student's needs have an Individualized Program Plan (IPP).

At CAPE, we believe each student presents with particular academic and personal needs because of different cognitive, emotional, and social developmental rates; and students wish for, need, and deserve an individualized, flexible, and innovative program, which will lead to success in academic pursuits.

Alberta Education, through legislation and policies, specifies that the Minister may establish a charter school if the program to be offered by the school will potentially improve the learning of students;

At CAPE, we believe the community at large has a role to play in the academic and personal development of the student, and students have the right to become involved in an educational program of choice.

GOALS:

1. to foster academic (personal) excellence
